Much of US cooks in endless summer

WASHINGTON—While people in the nation's capital talked about an endless summer this week, they did not realize that in many parts of the country, they were already in the middle of it.

Rain brings instant flood to Metro

By Tara Quinsanda, Mika Morales and Nancy Carvajal

RAINFALL EQUIVALENT to more than a fourth of the volume brought in an hour by last year's killer Tropical Storm "Ondoy" was dumped on Metro Manila in just two hours yesterday afternoon.

The downpour submerged large areas, tied up vehicular traffic and diverted domestic and international flights.

Heavy rains are expected today when President Aquino delivers his first State of the Nation address at the Malacañan Palace.

ITCEC, a host of heavy clouds and thunderstorms, is forecast to remain during much of the week.

A very low-pressure area was spotted some 170 kilometers northeast of Aurora, the weather bureau said in an update posted at 3 p.m. yesterday. The ITCEC, however, remains the dominant weather system affecting the country, it said.

In Quezon City, the public safety office sent announcements for rescue operations to Barangay Tanjak and Anasay Avenue as floodwaters rose to waist-thigh level.

On the ground level of the Skyway in Pasig City, water from the area's Hypermax, light vehicles got stalled in knee-deep floodwaters on the waterfront lane, backing up vehicular traffic for hundreds of meters at about 2:45 p.m.

Due to poor visibility, two international and 13 domestic flights bound for the Ninoy Aquino International Airport (NAIA) were diverted to the Donada Macapagal International Airport (DMIA) in Pangasinan.

Rain brought by the ITCEC drenched 86.3 million of residents between 11 noon and 3 p.m., according to the Philippine Atmospheric, Geographical and Astronomical Service Adminis-

Belmonte leads much bigger House coalition

By GRC Cabacungan Jr.

A BURNING QUESTION in the battle for speakership, Quezon City Rep. Belisario Belmonte Jr. has forged an alliance in the House of Representatives much bigger than the "rainbow coalition" of then Speaker Jose de Venecia.

Unlike in the Senate where the battle for the presidency of the chamber was almost down the wire, the race for the speakership was settled fairly early—just days after the May 10 elections, when it was clear that Rodrigo S. Duterte III would emerge as the new President.

The only question then was how many would vote for Belmonte as the top contender in the chamber, according to Manila-based Rep. Rep. Teresita Gonsales E, who is set to be named as House Majority Leader and chair of the House committee on rules.

Belmonte is expected to be formally elected Speaker when the 15th Congress holds its inaugural session today.

A total of 220 to 230 representatives from the Liberal Party, Lakas-Kampi-Christiana-Muslima Unions, National People's Coalition, Manobo-Lakas, Pwersa ng Masang Pilipino and other parties and party-list groups are expected to vote for Belmonte in a reflection of the popularity of Mr. Duterte, who is said to be

"This is much bigger than former House Speaker Jose de Venecia's much weaker rainbow coalition," Gonsales said.

Gonsales has yet to come up with a name for the Belmonte coalition after some members rejected his initial proposal to call it the "Coalition for Governance and Reform."

GMA flies to Hong Kong

ALL EYES will be on her empty chair in Congress today.

Former President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo slipped out of the country on the eve of her successor's first State of the Nation Address (SONA), courtesy of several hearing "shocking" revelations about her presidency had left her with an almost barren treasury.

"She doesn't want to be harassed," said Sen. Jinggoy Estrada.

"Who would like to be there if you're the object of the speech of the President?"

President Aquino's SONA today at the opening of the 15th Congress has been described by Duterte as a "truth-telling" speech that will "shock and awe" Filipinos.

It will further show the Arroyo administration had depleted this year's

Pangilinan, Villar fail to get needed 13 votes

By Christine G. Arendete

A SURVIVOR of many political wars is keeping his grip on the Senate presidency, after all.

Earlier thought to be on his way out, Juan Ponce Enrile clinched the Senate Speakership last night by obtaining the support of 21 senators—a powerful majority in the 25-member upper chamber of Congress.

Enrile said the 66-year-old lawmaker from Cagayan was awarded of his continued hold on his position following a series of meetings and sudden developments during the weekend.

The same disaster was yesterday's last-minute announcement by Benigno Pangilinan, the credible candidate of Malolos, that he was withdrawing from the Senate presidential race in order to unify the chamber.

"It's a truly sad moment," Sen. Edgardo Angara told the lawmakers, saying that all those in the chamber had come together to support Enrile as their chief.

In a phone interview, Angara credited the sudden turn of events to efforts of the Liberal Party (LP), Nacionalista Party (NP) of Sen. Manuel Villar Jr. and other blocs—including Angara's—to come together and agree on a Senate President by the time the 15th Congress opens today.

Since late last week, Pangilinan had been the front runner in the fight for the Senate leadership. Enrile of Pwersa ng Masang Pilipino only landed on an alternative route days after the NP and LP candidates failed to get the 13 votes needed to win the Senate presidency.

"Since neither side (Enrile and Pangilinan) was able to make it, we agreed with Villar and the others that we need to elect one because it would be embarrassing for the Senate if we

State of nat'l budget: A tour of GMA chamber of horrors

By Amanda Doronila

FINISHED WITH A GUFFAWING deficit, President Aquino is set to unveil in his first State of the Nation Address (SONA) today an apocalyptic picture of the extent of the depletion of the national budget left by former President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo.

Designed to shock the nation and to lay the blame for the financial misdeeds on the reckless spending of the preceding administration, the new President gave a preview of the central theme of his first SONA. The speech promises to be a tour into the chamber of horrors of the Arroyo era.

"Almost all of the funds that we were to use in the coming months have been misappropriated," Mr. Aquino said at the turnover ceremonies of the Philippine Army High Command at Fort Bonifacio on Saturday.

The previous administration had spent most of the 2010 budget, leaving the new administration only 10 percent to spend for the next five months.

"We will be surprised that there is a big discrepancy but there is a

Militants to push demands in Sona rallies today

By Jerome Ailing in Manila and Nestor R. Burgos Jr. in Agaña, Palawan

READY WITH their "Pussy" egg-on-the-face, militant groups are converging on the road leading to the Bataan Peninsula complex in Quezon City and its other urban centers in the country today to press long-time demands on President Aquino during his first State of the Nation Address (SONA).

The labor group Kilusang Mayo Uno (KMU) yesterday said it had prepared an effigy of Mr. Aquino depicting him as a hunchback that came out of a duck's egg painted in the colors and stars-and-stripes motif of the American flag.

Dubbed the "American Pussy," the figure symbolizes the role supposedly played by the United States in "giving birth to a Mercury presidency (sic) co-laboring with the well-known pro-imperialism, as well as its continued meddling in the new administration," said KMU chair Elmer Labog.

This intervention, Labog said, can be seen in the recent visit of a leading Washington official, US Undersecretary of State William Burns, to the country.

"The more fact that Aquino has willingly listened to US envoys while playing blind and deaf in Filipino workers' demands is a clear reason to protest on (the day of the) SONA," Labog added.

"There's" apparently a play on "Pussy" the President's preferred moniker.

Another labor group, the Partido ng Manggagawa (PM), challenged the new administration to formulate a "No-First Policy" and depart from one Rings.

But Simpson said he had no quibbles to his son and was only relying on reports supplied by Ronald's friends and business associates who are now in Hong Kong.

He said the latest information he received was that a legal team was assisting Oswald, but he could not give further details.

Croat records from Hong Kong showed that Ruzicki, 41, was arrested at the Chik Lay Kok International Airport for possession of 28.2 grams of cocaine and two tablets of a medicine on July 11. The records also showed that the coast guard rejected Ruzicki's application for bail. He has been detained since his arrest.

"Magnus said he did not know the real story behind the arrest. He will tell the story ... himself when he is available," he said.

Singapore said he would go to Hong Kong soon to check on his son.

The governor also apologized for his son's behavior, saying he would not tolerate the use of illegal drugs in his family and in the community here too.

"I sincerely apologize for whatever shortcomings my son had committed," Gagnon told the bureau by phone yesterday.

"In government and in my own companies, I never indulged in the use of illegal drugs," he said.

The Simpson family is engaged in the transportation and construction businesses. The family owns Shasta Bus Line, which has more than 200 buses plying various routes in Northern Iowa, and runs the construction firm Saxon.

Singapore and Donald, who is a concert producer and owner of cable music station, Channel V, went to Hong Kong after his company staged the Mandala concert of singer, Usher, on July 8.

— Based on the Supreme Court Decision in G.R. 194527 vs National Housing Authority

THE DREAM of President Corason C. Aquino in 1992 was finally realized in 2003, when 2,500 families finally found a home; they could call their own. In 2003, the Supreme Court declared the Smokey Mountain Project as a contract with valid legal grounds. "To wit:

"Based on the issues raised in this petition, we find that the March 19, 1992 JVA between NHA and RBI, and the SMDRP embodied in the JVA, the subsequent amendments to the JVA and all other agreements signed and executed in relation to it, including, but not limited to, the Sept. 26, 1993 Smokey Mountain Asset Pool Agreement and the Agreement of the Project as well as all other transactions which emanated from the Project, have been shown to be valid, legal and constitutional."

sa likod ng paninira laban sa Smokey Mountain Project

Alam ng lahat na idineklarang "valid, legal and constitutional" ang Smokey Mountain Development and Reclamation Project (SMDRP) noong 2007 sa pamamagitan ng Supreme Court 12-9 decision. Labing-dalawang justices ang sumung-ayon, walong sumalungat.

Now Why Would Smokey Mountain Project Detractors Fabricate Lies about the Project

POINT NUMBER 1: ITS OWN REASON

Some nations in the past industry are many of the last great of the world. Some of the last great of the world are many of the last great of the world. Some of the last great of the world are many of the last great of the world.

It was written in a newspaper column that money (NHA) Secretary Estrada said, who was supporting open competition in the past, was awarded to a private party by a Joint Venture Agreement. The killer fled on board a motorcycle that had no license plate and driven by an accomplice. Police have identified a suspect but have neither established the motive of the killing nor its circumstances.

Still on hand:

"Verification of the alleged suspect is still far from giving justice to Bullockman and his family. The government should not imprison all those involved in the killing and the ones who ordered it are put behind bars," Cohen said.

Militant groups have blamed the government's controversial weapons program for creating the climate for sectarian violence.

They suspect that military-backed "death squads" or guerrilla units could be behind the democracy's killing, an allegation consistently denied by the military.

5 teens nabbed for rob-slay in Mandaue

By Joanne Nolasco
Inquirer Staff

CEBU CITY—The police arrested on Thursday five teenagers, including a 15-year-old girl, linked to the robbery and slaying of a taxi driver in Mandaue City.

The suspects, with ages ranging from 15 to 18, all members of the Crisp gang, admitted to the police that they were involved in the killing of taxi driver Mariano Regala, according to Mandaue City Police director Senior Supt. Socorro Regala. Regala, 38, of Bantayan, Cebu, was found dead inside a taxi cab on July 23, 2010, in Mandaue.

The policeman that picked up the 15-year-old female (under the name) Gonsalves, Mandaue City, at 6:00 a.m.

The 17-year-old girl (under the name) Gonsalves, 15, of Bantayan, Cebu, was found dead inside a taxi cab on July 23, 2010, in Mandaue.

the robbery but he was arrested after the alleged gunman identified him as the one who supplied the gun.

Upon his arrest, he was detained on the police a 30 public vehicles without actual number with two live ammunition.

Gonsalves said that at first, the suspects did not admit their participation in the Crisp gang robbery until the investigation started to intensify their inquiries.

There was the first to admit that he was the gunman when told that the others had confessed to their roles in the crime, he disclosed.

Gonsalves said Mando said the police that he shot the taxi driver after getting mad that they only got around P200 profit.

The driver had more than P5,000 cash and a cell phone but the suspects did not find it.

The suspects came from the last day party of Regala's brother to stage a robbery to have money to buy some alcoholic drinks.

Regala said the group's motive appeared would have the girl they drove a taxi, with the other three suspects getting inside the taxi when it stops.

The first taxi driver that the suspects first Regala does know one of them as they did not push through with the robbery and instead disembarked from the vehicle, he said.

Upon learning about the killing of Regala, the taxi driver was confronted with the police.

Letters Patent No. 1-2005-000438 granted by the Bureau of Patents of the Intellectual Property Office of the Philippines relates to the invention of a system, method and product for enhancing advertising medium using wireless and contactless communication technology such as radio frequency identification (RFID) and near field communication (NFC) technology. This invention enables anyone to securely get additional on-the-spot information (e.g. price, product features and availability, etc.) from an advertising medium by simply using an appropriate information receiver/header device that instantly detects and communicates with the medium's updatable information transmitter/storage device. The downloaded information from such medium (e.g. billboard, signage, poster, streamer, placard, or vehicle sticker) can be accessed from a handheld device such as PDA, mobile phone, portable computer, etc. The invention, however, is not limited in its application to the details of the components/elements set forth and is capable of other embodiments and limitless applications not disclosed herein. The Letters Patent No. 1-2005-000438 is valid and effective for twenty (20) years from the date of filing, which was on 31 August 2005.

Letters Patent No. 1-2005-000438 was invented by Mr. Mikael "Miko" S. Angeles slay suspect never nabbed for past crimes

ANGEL CITY Mayor Filomeno Paner shows the photograph of Mark Dela, a computer technician and a self-proclaimed suspect in a series of killings and kidnappings in Angeles City.

ANGEL CITY—A warrant of arrest was issued in 2005 against a man suspected of kidnapping and killing three lawyers and six Filipinos in three separate incidents here over the last five months.

However, the warrant was never served and Mark Dela remains free for more than five years. Dela, 28, may even be able to travel for the television reality show "Bachelorette" a few years ago, police and local officials said.

Mayor Antonio Paner said, Angeles Regional Trial Court Judge Philbert Bernaldo issued a warrant and issued Dela on Jan. 21, 2005, for robbery and sex theft.

In a press conference on Sunday, both Paner and Chief Judge Bernaldo, head of the city police's investigation branch, could not say why the warrant was not served.

Dela, a computer technician and self-proclaimed, killing four of his allegedly killing and kidnapping Americans: Michael Mitchell, 70, his Filipino wife Janet, 73, and his son David, 25, and Taffelito Cella, an American-born Canadian born on July 22.

He is also the suspect in the robbery and killing of fellow lawyer William Perry, 51, and his two partners: William Winding, 20, in San Mateo Subdivision on July 16, and the robbery and murder of Canada-an Geoffrey Alan Brown, 40, and his partner Angela Brown, 20, at the Clark Hotel and Villas in Clarkville Compound on July 12.

Bernaldo said that the police are still looking for Dela since they were not able to serve the warrant.

On Sunday, a local newspaper carried an article on Paner as a laptop computer, a television, a digital camera, camera lenses and cellular phone owned by Dela recently.

Bernaldo, however, refused to confirm to him the laptop on items who owned it. Bernaldo was held by security guards while he was about to leave the office of Bernaldo Court Subdivision in the afternoon of July 22.

The authorities' security guards have not captured and held Dela when they noticed that he was carrying a laptop, a laptop bag and a handbag on his way out although he was only carrying a backpack when he entered the subdivision.

However, Dela was able to escape traveling in a car of the police that he would say he had been in his mobile phone in a nearby store and would return.

When a guard checked the license of the Mitchell, they were shocked to see that the Mitchell, he said, and the three before were dead. Jose Maly, Inspector General, said.

ARMM opposes GMA move to split region; solons fear this would lead to Cha-cha COMBING CITY—The region that grew hard push to split Mindanao's Autonomous Region (ARMM) led to in 2004 is now opposing her move in Congress which, Muslim officials said, could severely open the door to a constitutional amendment.

Later this Assemblyman Z. Zaldarosa, who led in his bid for a resolution in the autonomous region's Regional Legislative Assembly (RLA) on Thursday taking Congress to strip the passage of House Bill No. 373, which ARMM filed in Congress.

ARMM provides for the splitting of the autonomous region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM) into two regions, with each retaining the existing offices of Region, State and Local Government and the office covering Law and Magistrates.

The bill also proposes the transfer of a plebiscite area in some parts of ARMM to the provinces if they would join any of the two regions.

Liberal Party member Antonio Maling, who is city councilor, said he will not support a Cha-cha change in the plan of accommodating the present, mainly peace dealings with the Moro Islamic Liberation Front and the Moro National Liberation Front.

The bill, the second that ARMM has filed after filing the Cha-cha change bill, is said to address an amendment in conflict between the two Moro groups.

The government signed out the ARMM in the MILF in 1996 and has offered to the MILF the same terms to the MILF change its constitution.

Maling also said the proposed amendment was not a constitutional amendment because it is not a change in the constitution's provisions that only from a constitutional amendment—see each for the Moro Islamic Liberation Front and the MILF—shall be considered.

Adding that having two autonomous regions in Muslim Mindanao would also add additional burden on the government in terms of budgetary requirements.

"If we can hardly maintain our autonomous region, how much more if we are to have two autonomous regions?" Maling asked.

ARMM acting Gov. Antonio del Arado said that, under the 1996, the region's division should respect the regional government's autonomy in governance, particularly from economic growth and other important factors, for it to become more self-sufficient and not for the creation of a separate entity. ARMM, however, has

The Science Garden in Quezon City recorded an average of 45.13 mm per hour, mostly in the last 10 minutes of heavy rain, considered heavy. Rain was measured more than 7.5 mm per hour in scattered heavy rain.

In comparison, Quezon dumped 40.6 mm and nearby areas 34.1 mm in 10 hours on Sept. 26, 2007, causing the worst flooding in decades. The deluge killed 466 people and destroyed or damaged 140,000 homes. Quezon's downpour averaged 58.23 mm per hour.

Next three days

Heavy rains could likely continue as the big front that the PAGASA is forecasting Philippine days in the next three to five days.

A low-pressure area and west Pacific high were the weekend rain as larger affecting the country's weather as of Sunday and Tuesday resulted in heavy rain.

The PAGASA forecast cloudy skies, showers and drizzle in Metro Manila, Central Luzon, Southern Luzon, and the Visayas in the next four days.

Social networking

Many of the flooding in major thoroughfares yesterday were reported and time in social networking sites.

Online users reported flooding in major roads in Manila and Metro Manila in Quezon City, and across around Quezon and Makati City.

"There were some areas that were not possible to light vehicles because of the flood. That's why cars stopped, causing traffic jams," and other motorists, general managers of the Metro Manila Development Authority (MMDA).

Sections of EDSA Road, Pulong and C.E. Garcia Avenue in Quezon City and a portion of Santa Bernardine in Mandaluyog, city were also flooded, he said.

Pangasinan, Manila

AN OPEN LETTER TO PRESIDENT NOYNOY AQUINO

We call on President Noynoy Aquino to head the recent Supreme Court decision stripping Joel Villanueva from being a Congressman representing the Citizens Battle Against Corruption (CIBAC) Party—but in the last Congress. Finally, Joel Villanueva has been exposed as a power in a unanimous decision arrived at by the Supreme Court.

It would be the supreme irony if President Noynoy who seeks to bring our people to "the dang matatag" insists on appointing Joel Villanueva as the Director-General of TESDA, someone who knowingly knew he was unqualified to serve as a member of Congress had the certification process for qualifying our youth to serve and be honestly employed—someone who just came from the "dang bakant."

His offense is not as simple as changing the numbers on a golf scorecard.

We question the standards set by your search committee to select Joel Villanueva who does not possess any significant experience or knowledge in Technical education or in Skills development. Technically, morally, and now legally he cannot under any circumstance be said to be one of "the best and the brightest" in our land.

We trust that you will do the honorable thing.

Thank you.

Very truly yours,

19 die in stampede at German festival

DUESBURG, GERMANY—Crowds of people streaming into a techno music festival staged through an already jammed entry tunnel, setting off a panic that killed 19 people and injured 340 at an event meant to celebrate love and peace.

The circumstances of the stampede on Saturday at the famed Love Parade festival in Duisburg in western Germany were still not clear even hours after the chaos, but it appeared that some or most of the 19 had been crushed to death.

Authorities also suggested that some of the people killed were injured after they attempted to clear the crowd by jumping over a barrier and falling several meters. Witnesses described a desperate scene, as people started to run over others or tried to help others who had fallen in the crush.

"The young people seem to be calm and instead there are dead and injured," said Christiane Angewinkel, 41, on her way to the festival and the police.

Critics quickly fell on city officials for allowing only one entrance to the grounds of a largely popular event that drew hundreds of thousands of people to dance, watch films and listen to DJs on the Love Parade.

The Festival of the Love Parade, Marlene Rieckhoff, known by the name of the parade, said the planning for the event, saying "one single entrance through a tunnel built itself to disaster. Love was real."

100 officials closed out to estimate the size, saying it might reach more people, and many people continued partying, even as the deaths.

Emergency workers had trouble getting to the victims, hampered by the huge crowds. The area was a hectic scene, with bodies lying on the ground and people sitting around in shock.

RP moves to become Asean's clean energy leader

By Rangel L. Ito
THE PHILIPPINES is pushing to become the clean and green energy hub of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations by harmonizing its energy regulations and streamlining the energy infrastructure of related laws.
"We have long realized that the energy sector may act as the prime source of change by bringing to bear the importance of reducing greenhouse gas emissions. The 2009-2030 Philippine Energy Plan introduces the strategy of making the Philippines the leader in green, clean and reliable energy," Energy Secretary Jesse Robredo said in a speech presented at the Asian Ministers on Energy Meeting in Vietnam.
"The real challenge naturally lies in performing beyond our own expectations. Sharing the country's two nationwide legislations with the annual plan and progress of their implementation addresses any concerns of risks that they are not positive laws, but the main goal is to make it," he added.

He said, the Department of Energy had been a national working group to create and harmonize the Philippine Energy Plan with the Renewable Energy Policy Framework. The marriage of the two would lead to the birth of the National Renewable Energy Policy Document.

The DOE also would provide policy directions to support market integration, integrated operations, deliver renewable energy, and ensure quality control, and provide rules and guidelines for the maximum incorporation of the Renewable Energy Law to expand renewable energy based capacity.

For hydro, he said the country aimed to increase installed base in power to 20 per cent by 2020 and installed base also is 30 per cent by 2020.

Republic Act 9593, or the National Act of 2009, required all diesel and gasoline to use a minimum 1 percent bio-diesel blend within three months of the effectivity of the law, or starting May 2011. The executive limit was 2 percent in February last year.

Also in February last year, the mandate for gasoline to have at least a 5 percent ethanol blend, by total volume, also took effect. The standard blend would rise to at least 10 per cent after first year of 2011.

At the same time, ethanol and bio-diesel production had already reached 64.68 million liters, enough to cover the domestic blend requirements.

Oilseed supply however was problematic, he said.

Despite the recent transportation of the 19 billion San Carlos (Biosource) Inc. ethanol manufacturing facility, local ethanol supply was in short supply.

"It is an unfortunate reality on one part that the bio-based industry is not strong enough to timely respond with the requirements of the energy market. The Philippines is, therefore, planning to adopt a temporary solution of bio-based importation until the domestic supply becomes stable," he said.

supply and price volatility, and beginning for another importation of the same volume (over 200,000 metric tons), usually.

The tax volatility needed to keep the sugar tariff-free and thus affordable has not been signed since the 1990s or early 2000s, when the Sugar Regulatory Administration (SRA) started seeking a tax subsidy for the raw sugar through the National Food Security Department of Finance.

A presidential issuance and timely tax subsidy have, however, not been signed since, so that the 10 percent tariff on sugar would make importation expensive and could drive local prices even higher than US$10 per cwt.

Because of the tariff and the 10 percent tariff, the Philippines will have to pay more for sugar from Brazil. And there's a long line of ships waiting at Brazil's ports right now and 10 to 15 days of wait time to get it.

If sugar is not imported, the Philippines could experience a double whammy: high sugar prices and tight supply to farmers. For farmers, both will be a disaster, and a price reduction would mean a disaster for them, says importers who are still waiting for the government to take action.

But SRA officials say...

Coffee war rages on
The SRA has won the ownership of the Figma trademark in the coffee sector, especially now that legal officer Lorna Kapunan has joined the fray representing the group of her former CEO Pedro E. Juan.

The SRA has also won the trademark of the Figma coffee beans, which is a trademark of local coffee beans. The SRA has also won the trademark of the Figma coffee beans, which is a trademark of local coffee beans.

But the SRA group in Figma Coffee Systems Inc. has questioned the trademark on grounds that the trademark is already being used by other companies that actually operate the chain.

FCB has filed a petition for cancellation of the registration of the Figma trademark in the name of the SRA. The petition has been denied and appealed by FCB. The SRA is still pending with the Bureau of Legal Affairs of the IPO and Kapunan can be expected to do everything to her power to secure the ruling in favor of her group.

PNCC told to remit P4B in concession fees

Unpaid amount on top of share in toll collections

By Rowland M. Domingo

STAYS FORTH Philippine National Construction Corp. (PNCC) must remit P4 billion in concession fees, which should be paid immediately, according to the Department of Finance.

The unpaid fees were supposed to have been paid by Dec. 31, 2011, when PNCC's franchise to operate tollbooths expired—five years after the company's concession agreement with the DPW expired on Dec. 31, 2010.

Finance Secretary Cesar U. Fernandez said the DPW had informed the company in writing that it was in default of its obligations. He said the company had not submitted its annual financial statements for 2011 and 2012, and that it had not paid the toll collection fees for 2011 and 2012.

The Finance Dept. added that the concession fee was on top of PNCC's share in toll collections from the North Luzon and South Luzon expressways, which the firm had at its disposal to remit to the DPW. The Finance Dept. also said that the concession fee was on top of PNCC's share in toll collections from the North Luzon and South Luzon expressways, which the firm had at its disposal to remit to the DPW.

Remembering Joey Velasco

JOEY Velasco's quiet but to his entire transcended life of 47 years. I met him only in 2008, when his show "Memories" opened at Galleria in Manila.

It was not hard to see where Joey was sensitive: the crowd of collectors and well-wishers, as he was a big man. Joey expressed regret, saying he had expected someone who had written about his process, "Lantern," at the KUT Museum, to be a friend.

He started me on his home in Marikina, which was a long drive from my place in Pasig. The first thing I noticed when I entered his house was the large "Hoping to Pay Day" that hung in the hall, adding the living room and the dining area.

I could have probably the reason why I found it easy to tell his story was because of how I was able to relate to him. It is a story that has been told many times, but I never tire of writing about how his struggle off a large man on his body, and how he felt in depressed that at times he would look himself up to his eyes.

Congress and you

Objective:
Students will list examples of how laws affect their daily lives.

Materials:
Newspaper (July 28, 2012), activity guide, pen and paper

Procedure:

1. Explain to the class that through the years members of Congress have passed many laws that have changed their quality of life.
2. Have students look at the July 28 newspaper, specifically the front page, the newspaper on the front two pages (F1 and F2) and the center.
3. Ask the students to take their own notes on the class list of activities continue from after this step.
4. Share and compare answers with the class and list. As a class, the class will write the most important law they have and its effect on their lives and how it affects their lives and society. They will need a majority vote, which is their own personal opinion.

Activity Sheet

Write your daily activities on the left column. On the right, write the laws that members and congressmen have passed that affect those activities.

Daily activities	Applicable laws

Extension

The class will make a comparison in groups to share about laws written by the House of Representatives, Senate, and Congress. They will write the most important law they have and its effect on their lives and society. They will need a majority vote, which is their own personal opinion.

Pride in the largest Filipino life insurance company A Bold New Look for a Brave New Century

We at Insular Life wish to thank you for making us the country's largest Filipino life insurance company, for almost 100 years now.

We take pride in our being Filipino and in choosing the Philippine Eagle, the world's largest, as our new icon.

Like the eagle, we share with you our keen vision as we soar to new heights and span new horizons.

Together let us spread our wings and take our majestic flight, as we pursue our dreams. Discerning. Confident. Strong.

Insular Life, rooted firmly in its rich heritage, has been playing a key role in the lives of Filipinos. Its extensive experience and knowledge enabled families to lay down solid foundations for a secure future. A bastion of strength in troubled times, a strong and steady pillar upon which the trust of millions leaned on.

Insular Life is a loyal partner for the old and new generations of Filipinos. Understanding their needs at various life stages. Looking out for their best interest.
